He Polled 125,000 Votes In Pennsylvania.

BEACON ELECTED BY 145,000.

Major McCauley Chosen For Auditor General by 170,000—Democratic State Chairman Garman Says Some Democrats Voted For Swallow.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3.—Returns from the state indicate that Dr. S. C. Swallow, Prohibition candidate for state treasurer, known in politics as "The Fighting Parson," has received more than 125,000 votes.

In the counties of Blair, Clinton, Cumberland, Dauphin, Huntingdon, Lycoming, Juniata, Montour and Northumberland, the returns indicate that Swallow defeated Beacom, the regular Republican candidate. In 1895 the Prohibition vote in the state was 20,779, and last year it was 19,274.

Republican State Chairman Elkin claims that Beacom is elected by 145,000 plurality, as against Haywood's plurality of 174,264 in 1895. The indications are that McCauley, the Republican candidate for auditor general, received about 170,000 plurality.

Democratic Chairman Garman said: "The returns from Pennsylvania show that the Republican party and its management have been severely rebuked by the people, notwithstanding the small vote," said Mr. Garman.

"Dr. Swallow has received a highly complimentary vote in many localities. Many Democrats voiced their protest by voting for Swallow."

"This election indicates that in 1898 the congressional and gubernatorial elections will probably be favorable to the Democrats."

Chester—Estimated Republican plurality 5,000, a Republican gain of 1,814. The estimated vote cast for Swallow is 1,600. Thompson's vote is about 500.

Center—An estimated Republican plurality of 300, a gain of 193. Dr. Swallow polled a fairly large vote, but Thompson, the Independent candidate, was lost sight of in nearly every precinct. The county ticket elected will probably be as follows: Jury commissioner, W. R. Williams, Republican; J. J. Hoy, Democrat; county surveyor, J. H. Wetzel, Democrat.

Lancaster—Beacom's majority about 5,000. Swallow's vote upward of 2,500. Thompson's vote inconsiderable.

Monroe—Estimated Democratic plurality 1,200, a Democratic gain 133. The vote for Swallow will probably reach 200. The Prohibition vote in 1895 was 79. The vote for Thompson, Independent Republican, is 20. Judge Barnett Mansfield, Democrat, is elected associate judge by about 500 plurality over Hoffman, Republican.

Snyder—Estimated plurality for Beacom and McCauley, 1,200, a Republican gain of 310. Swallow polls about 300 votes. The Prohibition vote in this county in 1895 was 24. Willis, register and recorder; H. C. Sampsell, associate judge; S. M. Baker, district attorney; and Joseph Hendricks, jury commissioner.

ity 1,700, a Democratic gain of 1,555. Swallow's vote is estimated at 100. In 1895 the Prohibition vote was 418. Thompson's vote is estimated at 70.

Greene—Estimated Democratic plurality 1,250, a Democratic gain of 890. Philadelphia—Beacom, Republican, for state treasurer and McCauley, Republican, for auditor general have pluralities in Philadelphia of about 75,000. Swallow, Prohibition, for state treasurer, received about 12,000 votes. The vote for Thompson, Independent Republican, for state treasurer, was very light, probably less than 1,000.

Returns indicate the election of Colonel Clayton McMichael, Republican, city treasurer, and Horatio B. Hackett, Republican, for register of wills, by majorities approximating 75,000. Judges Bregy, Wiltbank, Audenreid and Ferguson were unanimously re-elected, they having been endorsed by both parties. The proposition to increase the indebtedness of the city $12,200,000 for public improvements, has been carried by about 20,000. Under the provisions of the constitution the city's debt could not be further increased, except by the approving vote of the people. The vote is about 30 per cent under that of last year and will not quite equal the "off year" vote of 1895.

His vote in the county will probably reach 1,500. The Republican state ticket has a plurality of 62 in the city of Easton. McKinley carried the city by a plurality of 661. Cambria—With 17 districts out of 82 to near from, Cambria county gives Wertz, Rep., for sheriff, 5,573; Baumer, Dem., 4,935. This would indicate that Wertz carries the county by about 100 plurality. The state ticket has about the same vote. Swallow's vote light.

Republicans Carry Iowa.

DES MOINES, Nov. 3.—The returns from about one-fourth of the 2,005 precincts of the state show that the Republican's plurality will be about 17,000. The Democrats have a net gain in the state of a out 47,000. The legislative ticket returns are slow coming in. The best estimates obtainable here give to the senate 36 Republicans, 12 Democrats and 2 districts in doubt. Of the members of the house probably 65 out of the 100 will be Republican, giving them a safe working majority in both houses.

Result In New Jersey.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—The vote in New Jersey was light. The Democrats made gains in almost every county, and the Republicans retain control of the state house of assembly by a narrow majority. They also have the senate, although the Democrats made gains.

Elected All Republicans.

PORT HURON, Mich., Nov. 3.—Every Republican candidate for city offices was elected by safe majorities. Stevens, Republican, for mayor, has 248 plurality over Wellman, Democrat. Wellman had majorities in only three wards. Eight Republican and one Democratic aldermen are elected.

The Weather.

Generally fair; brisk northerly wind

OHIO IS IN DOUBT.

May Require Official Count to Determine Result.

LEGISLATURE ESPECIALLY CLOSE.

The Democrats Made Big Gains In All the Cities Except Cleveland, Especially In Cincinnati and Columbus—Republicans Gained Largely In Rural Districts.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 3.—Democratic Chairman McConville has made the following statement:

"I claim the legislature as Democratic by safe majorities in both branches and that the entire Democratic state ticket is elected by a good plurality."

The following was given out from the Republican state headquarters by Chairman Nash: "I think Bushnell has been re-elected governor by from 12,000 to 15,000 plurality. We have elected 54 of the 109 representatives and 17 of the 36 state senators certain, assuring us of 71 votes on the joint ballot, 73 votes being necessary to elect a senator. We have 12 doubtful counties unheard from, in which we expect to elect 12 more representatives."

There are also three doubtful senatorial districts unheard from in which the state senators are to be elected and from which we will certainly elect three senators. We claim the election of the entire Republican state ticket and a majority in each branch of the general assembly.

Wooster—The city complete gives Bushnell, 687; Chapman, 707; Republican loss, 72; Democratic loss, 49; Coxey, 10; Holliday, 43.

Cincinnati—The following are the complete returns from all the precincts of Hamilton county to the board of elections:

Bushnell, Rep., for governor, 41,121; Chapman, Dem., for governor, 39,611. Bushnell's plurality, 1,511.

On the legislative ticket Cohen, fusionist, received 41,395 votes. Harris, the highest Republican on the senatorial ticket, received 39,448 votes. Cohen's majority 1,947.

The other fusionist candidates on the legislative ticket ran very nearly up to Cohen's majority. Candidates on the fusionist county ticket had majorities of from 2,000 to upwards of 3,000. The total vote of Hamilton county, with its 270 precincts, was 82,000. The votes for other candidates than those on the ticket of the two great parties was light.

Tiffin—Vote light. Rain all day. Chapman has carried the county by 1,200, Democratic loss of 100. Democratic candidates for senator and representative run ahead of ticket.

Newark—Licking county goes Democratic from 1,200 to 1,400. Williams, Democrat, for representative, elected. Finck and Miller, Democrats, for senators, are undoubtedly elected.

Columbus—The complete returns in Columbus (88 precincts) give Bushnell, Republican, for governor, 12,710; Chapman, Democrat, 12,747. Last fall McKinley carried the city by 3,161, making a Democratic gain of 3,178.

Mansfield—Returns are slow from the outlying townships, but Chapman has carried the county by 1,200, a Democratic gain of 100, electing the Democratic legislative ticket. The city gives Chapman 1,727, Bushnell 1,526, a Democratic gain of 51.

Delaware—Twelve of the 27 precincts in this county give Bushnell, 1,632; Chapman, 1,410. State senators, Shryock, Republican, 1,628; Rodgers, Republican, 1,618; Fink, Democrat, 1,637; Miller, Democrat, 1,436. Legislators, Smith, Republican, 1,555; Leas, Democrat, 1,550.

Xenia—Greene county complete gives Bushnell 2,200 majority, a Democratic gain of 115. Snider, Republican, representative elected.

Lima—Election very quiet here. Light vote polled. Twenty-four out of 31 precincts in this county give Bushnell 2,927 and Chapman 3,755. It is estimated the county will go from 1,100 to 1,000 Democratic. Democrats elect one representative and two senators from this district.

Chillicothe—Bushnell carries Ross county by 800 majority, a gain of 200. Lutz, for state senator, and Arbense, for the legislature, run a little ahead of the ticket.

Massillon—The city and Perry township (10 precincts) give Bushnell 1,020; Chapman, 1,413; Holliday, 23; Coxey, 38; Dexter, 4; Watkins, 105; Lewis, 1. Same gave McKinley 1,803; Bryan, 1,678.

Fremont—Twelve out of 24 precincts in Sandusky county indicates a Democratic majority of 1,200, a gain of 101.

Youngstown—The indications are that Bushnell has carried the city by about 300 and the county by 500. The vote on the legislative ticket in the city is very close and not yet determined.

Norwalk—Bushnell, 1,024; Chapman, 753. McKinley, 1,189; Bryan, 865. Democratic gain 54.

Portsmouth—The city gives Bushnell 1,820; Chapman, 1,383. Same in 1896 gave McKinley 2,220; Bryan, 1,307. Fostoria—Very small vote polled. Bushnell receiving 978; Chapman, 735. McKinley received 1,209 and Bryan 869.

Findlay—Twenty-seven precincts in Hancock county, including all of this city give Bushnell, 3,737, and Chapman, 3,248. This is a Republican gain of 103.

Cleveland—With returns from about one-fifth of the precincts in Cleveland as a basis, it is estimated that Bushnell, Republican, will carry Cuyahoga county by about 5,000. This also elects three Republican senators and nine representatives in the legislature.

The result in Ohio is so close that it may require the official count to determine the result, especially on the political complexion of the legislature. The Republicans and Democrats are both claiming the state and the legislature with such persistence that it will require the official count at least to get one or the other to concede defeat. In complete returns indicate the election of the Republican state ticket by from 10,000 to 12,000, but the result on the legislature is so close that no definite figures can be given on it.

The Democrats claim confidently a majority in both branches of the legislature, but give no figures on the number of state senators or representatives. The Republicans claim 54 representatives and 17 senators sure, or 71 votes on joint ballot, 73 being necessary to elect a senator. They also claim all of the 12 representatives whose counties have not been definitely heard from and all of which are in the doubtful list. Out of the five state senators yet to hear from they claim three, so that the result on the legislature cannot be determined till all the doubtful counties and districts are heard from.

Both sides are watching the count very carefully, especially on the legislative candidates that are in doubt.

The change from the result of last year shows that the Democrats have gained in all of the cities largely, except in Cleveland. The gains in Cincinnati and Columbus were very large. The Republicans gained in the rural districts, but most of the changes were due to the stay-at-home vote in the rural districts, which was fully 15 per cent.

PRESIDENT CAST A BALLOT.

Voted Like Any Other Citizen—Crowd Cheered.

CANTON, Nov. 3.—The president of the United States voted just like any ordinary citizen, and with no more show or formality. It was just 10:20 o'clock when he reached the precinct headquarters, and a moment later the voice of a clerk was heard reading: "William McKinley, 815 West Tucarawas street, number 164."

President McKinley then entered the booth, and was just one minute and 18 seconds casting his ballot. The curtain of the booth rested on his shoulder, and he was in plain view of the crowd, who cheered lustily as he emerged.

The president was accompanied to the polls from his mother's home, by Judges Ricks and McCarty, and George B. Freese. He greeted pleasantly the friends he passed on the street and spoke to those gathered about the polling place.

They received the election returns by two special wires and a long distance telephone instrument, in the private car Mayflower.

IN BRYAN'S STATE.

The Silver Fusionists Carried the State by Increased Pluralities.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 3.—Nebraska renewed her allegiance to Fusion by electing the three candidates on that ticket by pluralities ranging from 10,000 to 25,000. Nothing like complete returns have been received, but enough are in to measure the result and indicate a greater fusion victory than in the presidential year.

Butler—Estimated Republican plurality, 800, a Democratic gain of 634. Swallow will have about 400 votes. In 1895 the Prohibition vote was 303. Thompson's vote is estimated at 200.

Potter—Estimated Republican plurality, 300, a Democratic gain of 833. Swallow's vote is about 200. In 1895 was 62.

Cameron—Estimated Republican plurality, 200, a Democratic gain of 129. The county, so far as heard from, gives the following vote: Beacom, 454; Brown, 283; Swallow, 213; McCauley, 531; Ritter, 310.

Bucks—Estimated Republican plurality, 1,000, a Democratic gain of 159.

McKean—Estimated Republican plurality, 1,500, a Democratic gain of 113. Swallow's vote is about 1,000. In 1895 the Prohibition vote was 344. Morrison, for judge, carries the county by about 1,000 majority.

Millin—Estimated Republican plurality, 1,500, a Democratic gain of 113. Swallow's vote in the county is about 300. In 1895 the Prohibition vote was 95.

Warren—Estimated Republican plurality 700, a Democratic gain of 924. Swallow's vote is estimated at 700. In 1895 the Prohibition vote was 444. Thompson's vote is estimated at 300.

Pike—Estimated Democratic plurality 150, a Democratic gain of 108. Swallow's vote is about 100. In 1895 the Prohibition vote was 12.

Washington—Estimated Republican plurality 2,400, a Democratic gain of 39. Lehigh—Estimated Democratic plurality 1,800, a Democratic gain of 645. Swallow's vote in the county is probably 1,000. In 1895 the Prohibition vote was 141.

Forest—Estimated Republican plurality 200. Swallow's vote is estimated at 400. In 1895 the Prohibition vote was 128.

Luzerne—Estimated Democratic plurality 1,800, a Democratic gain of 5,188. Dr. Swallow's vote is estimated at 3,500. In 1895 the Prohibition vote was 1,032.

Northumberland—Dr. Swallow has probably carried the county by 2,000 plurality. McCauley for auditor general has a majority of about 500. The Republican county ticket is elected by an estimated majority of 1,500.

Lawrence—Estimated Republican plurality, 2,000, a Democrat gain of 153. Swallow's vote is estimated at 500. In 1895 the Prohibition vote was 226.

Republicans Carry Iowa.

DES MOINES, Nov. 3.—The returns from about one-fourth of the 2,005 precincts of the state show that the Republican plurality will be about 17,000. The Democrats have a net gain in the state of about 47,000. The legislative ticket returns are slow coming in. The best estimates obtainable here give to the senate 36 Republicans, 12 Democrats and 2 districts in doubt. Of the members of the house probably 65 out of the 100 will be Republican, giving them a safe working majority in both houses.

Result In New Jersey.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—The vote in New Jersey was light. The Democrats made gains in almost every county, and the Republicans retain control of the state house of assembly by a narrow majority. They also have the senate, although the Democrats made gains.

Elected All Republicans.

PORT HURON, Mich., Nov. 3.—Every Republican candidate for city offices was elected by safe majorities. Stevens, Republican, for mayor, has 248 plurality over Wellman, Democrat. Wellman had majorities in only three wards. Eight Republican and one Democratic aldermen are elected.

The Weather.

Generally fair; brisk northerly wind

OHIO IS IN DOUBT.

May Require Official Count to Determine Result.

LEGISLATURE ESPECIALLY CLOSE.

The Democrats Made Big Gains In All the Cities Except Cleveland, Especially In Cincinnati and Columbus—Republicans Gained Largely In Rural Districts.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 3.—Democratic Chairman McConville has made the following statement:

"I claim the legislature as Democratic by safe majorities in both branches and that the entire Democratic state ticket is elected by a good plurality."

The following was given out from the Republican state headquarters by Chairman Nash: "I think Bushnell has been re-elected governor by from 12,000 to 15,000 plurality. We have elected 54 of the 109 representatives and 17 of the 36 state senators certain, assuming us of 71 votes on the joint ballot, 73 votes being necessary to elect a senator. We have 12 doubtful counties unheard from, in which we expect to elect 12 more representatives."

There are also three doubtful senatorial districts unheard from in which the state senators are to be elected and from which we will certainly elect three senators. We claim the election of the entire Republican state ticket and a majority in each branch of the general assembly.

Wooster—The city complete gives Bushnell, 687; Chapman, 707; its publican loss, 72; Democratic loss, 49; Coxey, 10; Holliday, 43.

Cincinnati—The following are the complete returns from all the precincts of Hamilton county to the board of elections:

Bushnell, Rep., for governor, 41,121; Chapman, Dem., for governor, 39,611. Bushnell's plurality, 1,511.

On the legislative ticket Cohen, fusionist, received 41,395 votes. Harris, the highest Republican on the senatorial ticket, received 39,448 votes. Cohen's majority 1,947.

The other fusionist candidates on the legislative ticket ran very nearly up to Cohen's majority. Candidates on the fusionist county ticket had majorities of from 2,000 to upwards of 3,000. The total vote of Hamilton county, with its 270 precincts, was 82,000. The votes for other candidates than those on the ticket of the two great parties was light.

Tiffin—Vote light. Rain all day. Chapman has carried the county by 1,200, Democratic loss of 100. Democratic candidates for senator and representative run ahead of ticket.

Newark—Licking county goes Democratic from 1,200 to 1,400. Williams, Democrat, for representative, elected. Finck and Miller, Democrats, for senators, are undoubtedly elected.

Columbus—The complete returns in Columbus (88 precincts) give Bushnell, Republican, for governor, 12,710; Chapman, Democrat, 12,747. Last fall McKinley carried the city by 3,161, making a Democratic gain of 3,178.

Mansfield—Returns are slow from the outlying townships, but Chapman has carried the county by 1,200, a Democratic gain of 100, electing the Democratic legislative ticket. The city gives Chapman 1,727, Bushnell 1,526, a Democratic gain of 51.

Delaware—Twelve of the 27 precincts in this county give Bushnell, 1,632; Chapman, 1,410. State senators, Shryock, Republican, 1,628; Rodgers, Republican, 1,618; Fink, Democrat, 1,637; Miller, Democrat, 1,436. Legislators, Smith, Republican, 1,555; Leas, Democrat, 1,550.

Xenia—Greene county complete gives Bushnell 2,200 majority, a Democratic gain of 115. Snider, Republican, representative elected.

Lima—Election very quiet here. Light vote polled. Twenty-four out of 31 precincts in this county give Bushnell 2,927 and Chapman 3,755. It is estimated the county will go from 1,100 to 1,001 Democratic. Democrats elect one representative and two senators from this district.

Chillicothe—Bushnell carries Ross county by 800 majority, a gain of 200. Lutz, for state senator, and Arbense, for the legislature, run a little ahead of the ticket.

Massillon—The city and Perry township (10 precincts) give Bushnell 1,020; Chapman, 1,413; Holliday, 23; Coxey, 38; Dexter, 4; Watkins, 105; Lewis, 1. Same gave McKinley 1,803; Bryan, 1,678.

Fremont—Twelve out of 24 precincts in Sandusky county indicates a Democratic majority of 1,200, a gain of 101. Youngstown—The indications are that Bushnell has carried the city by about 300 and the county by 500. The vote on the legislative ticket in the city is very close and not yet determined.

Norwalk—Bushnell, 1,024; Chapman, 753. McKinley, 1,189; Bryan, 865. Democratic gain 54.

Portsmouth—The city gives Bushnell 1,820; Chapman, 1,383. Same in 1896 gave McKinley 2,320; Bryan, 1,307.

Fostoria—Very small vote polled, Bushnell receiving 978; Chapman, 735. McKinley received 1,209 and Bryan 869.

Findlay—Twenty-seven precincts in Hancock county, including all of this city of give Bushnell, 3,737, and Chapman, 3,248. This is a Republican gain of 103.

Cleveland—With returns from about one-fifth of the precincts in Cleveland as a basis, it is estimated that Bushnell, Republican, will carry Cuyahoga county by about 5,000. This also elects three Republican senators and nine representatives in the legislature.

The result in Ohio is so close that it may require the official count to determine the result, especially on the political complexion of the legislature. The Republicans and Democrats are both claiming the state and the legislature with such persistence that it will require the official count at least to get one or the other to concede defeat. In complete returns indicate the election of the Republican state ticket by from 10,000 to 12,000, but the result on the legislature is so close that no definite figures can be given on it.

The Democrats claim confidently a majority in both branches of the legislature, but give no figures on the number of state senators or representatives. The Republicans claim 54 representatives and 17 senators sure, or 71 votes on joint ballot, 73 being necessary to elect a senator. They also claim all of the 12 representatives whose counties have not been definitely heard from and all of which are in the doubtful list. Out of the five state senators yet to hear from they claim three, so that the result on the legislature cannot be determined till all the doubtful counties and districts are heard from.

Both sides are watching the count very carefully, especially on the legislative candidates that are in doubt.

The change from the result of last year shows that the Democrats have gained in all of the cities largely, except in Cleveland. The gains in Cincinnati and Columbus were very large. The Republicans gained in the rural districts, but most of the changes were due to the stay-at-home vote in the rural districts, which was fully 15 per cent.

PRESIDENT CAST A BALLOT.

Voted Like Any Other Citizen—Crowd Cheered.

CANTON, Nov. 3.—The president of the United States voted just like any ordinary citizen, and with no more show or formality. It was just 10:20 o'clock when he reached the precinct headquarters, and a moment later the voice of a clerk was heard reading: "William McKinley, 815 West Tuckaway street, number 164."

President McKinley then entered the booth, and was just one minute and 18 seconds casting his ballot. The curtain of the booth rested on his shoulder, and he was in plain view of the crowd, who cheered lustily as he emerged.

The president was accompanied to the polls from his mother's home, by Judges Ricks and McCarty, and George B. Freese. He greeted pleasantly the friends he passed on the street and spoke to those gathered about the polling place.

They received the election returns by two special wires and a long distance telephone instrument, in the private car Mayflower.

IN BRYAN'S STATE.

The Silver Fusionists Carried the State by Increased Pluralities.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 3.—Nebraska renewed her allegiance to Fusion by electing the three candidates on that ticket by pluralities ranging from 10,000 to 25,000. Nothing like complete returns have been received, but enough are in to measure the result and indicate a greater fusion victory than in the presidential year.

A CITY OF THE DEAD.

PERE LA CHAISE, THE GREAT AND BEAUTIFUL CEMETERY OF PARIS.

It Contains 96,000 Mausoleums and Monuments—The Last Resting Place of Many Whose Names Live In History—A Battlefield In the Days of the Commune.

Pere la Chaise, so called after Louis XIV's confessor, who had his residence on the hill long ago, covers 106 1-2 acres and is laid out, like a miniature city, in nearly 150 streets or avenues and little paths. Bordering these are 96,000 mausoleums and monuments of every description, from the most magnificent tombs to the most unpretending urns. Each little house has its family name above the door, and few are ever without some fresh tokens of loving remembrance.

The French may not be a deeply religious nation, but they certainly do not lack personal affection and respect, and this is strikingly shown in their devotion to the memory of their dead. Ornamental wreaths made of beads or tin, black, white and colored, many of them with appropriate mottoes, were piled or hung upon the monuments.

Entering one of the main streets and walking up the hill, we were soon in a labyrinth of tombs. Inside of one little house, which had a glass door, there was a shelf built of marble, upon which stood a framed photograph of a man. On each side were vases filled with white lilacs, and underneath was stretched a white ribbon, and letters in gold upon it told that this was an offering from his sorrowful schoolmates. Three columns rising from one pedestal and resembling some fragment of a Roman ruin stood to commemorate three brothers who had wished to be laid together. Many monuments were like obelisks or in other Egyptian forms, showing the influence upon the fashion of the time of Napoleon's eastern campaign. One large column with a broken shaft stood alone in an open space upon a raised platform and attracted our attention because of the great number of wreaths and flowers piled high upon it. This was a monument to those whose burial places were unknown, whose deaths were shrouded in mystery, and whose mourners come here to pray and weep. As we looked a poor woman with a child by one hand added her little spray of chrysanthemums to the gay but pathetic heap. Soon familiar and world famous names began to claim our interest. Here lay Moliere and further on Alfred de Musset, the great poets, Chopin's last resting place marked by a beautiful figure. Lafontaine, with a little fox appropriately crowning his sepulcher—for who can mention him without thinking of the sly puss that got the crow's dinner?—Balzac, the novelist; Cherubini, the composer, and many other famous painters, authors and musicians. Then the brave men who fought for France—Marshal Ney, Napoleon's right hand man, who lies in a little inclosed lot filled with shrubs and flowers, but with no monument, for when he died his enemies were in power and would allow none to be erected, and now its absence and the simple grave speak more eloquently than could the finest tomb.

Near by lies poor Villeneuve, who lost at Trafalgar and in consequence of Napoleon's displeasure received such a harsh repulse when he returned to Paris that he ran a needle through his broken heart. Just across the way from him is Parmentier, the agriculturist. He was the man who with the utmost difficulty convinced the dainty French that the potato was worth cultivating and eating. They say that Marie Antoinette helped him to attain this end by wearing potato blossoms with her beautiful ball gowns. However true this may be, certain it is that the vegetable is planted every year around the good man's tomb. There is one tomb which every one is sure to visit at Pere la Chaise, and this is the grave of Abelard and Heloise, the grave that has been the subject of so many songs and verses, and where lovers come to plight their vows and pledge their faithfulness. Very romantic it must be, too, on a moonlight evening, with the pale rays falling on the stone figures lying peacefully side by side, with folded hands, under the canopy of early Gothic style, with queer gargoyles at each corner. The story of the lovers is well known. They had many trials and tribulations, but at last they rest together, according to Heloise's last wish that she might be reunited to her idol. Through the tombs and trees we went higher and higher, until we came out upon a wide terrace and Paris burst upon our view. Paris, sparkling in the sunlight, spread before us in a glittering panorama, an immense expanse of white buildings with domes, towers, spires and bridges, and the Eiffel tower rising like a gaunt skeleton amid the feast of beautiful architecture. No wonder that the mutineers of the commune appreciated the fine advantages of position afforded by Pere la Chaise. Here they entrenched themselves and transformed the quiet cemetery into a noisy camp. Here they met the fire from the government positions, until finally they were overpowered by troops which scaled the heights, and the terrible slaughter took place when thousands of the communists fell among the sepulchers. Some poor wretches tried to hide in the tombs, and the merciless soldiers closed them up fast, so that to this day skeletons of their victims are found in their ghastly prisons.—Paris Cor. FULL RESULT OF THE VOTING

It Was a Very Quiet Election Day With No Stir Until the Bad News Began to Come—One Man Arrested For Striking Another—All the News.

Election day in Wellsville was quiet. The vote was light and no one seemed to manifest any particular interest in the result.

Republicans and Democrats were anxious last night when it became known that the result would not be as every one expected. The first indication of Democratic victory sent the friends of Aten into the air, and they continued their hilarity until they were sure he was defeated, and even then they were jubilant because of the prospects in the state. The count was over early, and resulted as follows:

Hit an Old Man.

A warrant was sworn out last night charging a young man named Phillips with assaulting and seriously injuring an old man who gave the name of Crawford.

The trouble occurred in a house on Ninth street, yesterday morning, and a woman was said to be at the bottom of it. The quarrel incensed the neighbors and the warrant was issued. Crawford had a cut on his forehead.

Will Have Another.

The members of the Foraker club are justly proud of their banquet, and propose to hold another in the near future. It has not yet been decided what form the evening's entertainment will take, but it will be such as to attract the leading Republicans of Columbiana county.

They Want More Cars.

The people who work in Liverpool and live in Wellsville continue to complain because the street railway management has not provided a sufficient number of cars to handle the crowd in the morning.

The number of Wellsville people who find employment in East Liverpool is constantly increasing, and they crowd the available cars every morning.

Lost the Tube.

A little child, a member of the Kenyon family, who has been suffering from membranous croup, swallowed the silver tube the doctors put in its throat, and there was consternation until the doctors discovered what had become of the tube. The child is none the worse for its experience.

No Betting.

There was no betting on the election. A few attempts were made, but no one could be found who would put money against the Republican ticket and the result was not at all to the liking of the gamblers. Now they are wondering why they did not bet on plurality.

Work at the Mill.

Work on the improvements at the mill goes steadily forward, and they will be completed at the appointed time. Employment will be given to a large number of men.

The News of Wellsville.

Miss Dinely, of Pittsburg, arrived in the city yesterday evening.

Stewart Sharp, of Washington, D. C., returned here yesterday to vote.

E. S. Kelly went to Cleveland yesterday afternoon.

Father Halligan is a Cleveland visitor today.

Jesse Johnson has accepted a position in the Cleveland and Pittsburg yards.

David Mannist, the gentleman who was deprived of his vote in the late presidential election, voted in the Fourth ward yesterday without interference.

The Smart Boleros.

Every sort of basque apparently is worn just now. You may have your bodice to reach just to the waist or to come an inch or so below it or two inches above it, or with a lath four or five inches above it. In addition to all this you can have a choice of basques, whether short and fully plaited at the back and plain at the sides, or some six inches long and with only sufficient fullness to make it free from wrinkles. Some of the basques are only at the back, while others go all the way round. A third variety is very full at the back and continues around the sides, but without fullness.

Of all these styles, perhaps the very smartest is the bolero which just reaches the waist at the back, and, sloping downward very slightly toward the front, overpasses the waist line by not more than an inch. The fronts do not meet, but allow a vest or waistcoat to be seen, and at a point some six inches above the waist turn back in revers, usually of satin, and often covered with lace.

White satin is again to be used by the mile for all such purposes this season. One bolero that I have seen had very deep revers cut in tabs that formed a collar. These tabs were not only faced with the richest ivory tinted satin, but were veiled with the very finest and costliest brussels lace. Think of the lovely effect of this on a bolero of finest venetian cloth in a soft, pale tone of sulphur color, the skirt being in the same color and material. The waist belt was white satin ribbon, a detail that is always open to criticism, for only the very slimmest figures can stand a white belt.—London Truth.

Shoes and Slippers.

Chiefly remarkable for their extraordinary high heels and the elaborate materials of which they are made are the new evening shoes which are to be worn during 1897. For shape and make up they far more strongly resemble the footwear worn by some fine French dame of two or three centuries ago than they do the slippers ordinarily worn today.

One of these dainty models is a carriage shoe, and it is far less clumsy than the article which usually goes by that name. It is of pale rose pink satin, plaided off with silver embroidery and lined with softest ermine. An enormous white bow or rosette ornaments each instep. Even this shoe is made with its high, slender heel and is so gracefully shaped that one would never suspect it to be worn as a covering for another shoe.

Probably the very newest slipper is one without any trace of a heel, which is worn at home, as it is obviously impossible to trust to so treacherous an affair as a heelless slipper when one is elsewhere than at home. It is a pretty pattern, though, and is planned to show off the good points of a pretty foot remarkably well. The little rosette on the toe gives a very chic touch.

Black satin slippers seem wholly out of date, but one of the most effective of the new slippers has a front of black satin, the back, however, being of pale yellow silk. The front of the shoe represents a rather unique strapped effect, there being six black satin straps, each fastened by an amber buckle.—New York Letter.

FOR LITTLE FOLKS.

A KITE PARACHUTE.

With a Bent Pin, an Extra String and Other Simple Things You Can Have Lots of Fun.

The boys of Washington Heights have invented a new and fascinating kite game. Not long ago they saw a balloon ascension which was followed by a daring drop with a parachute. This put an idea into their heads. Why not make a parachute and have it drop from one of their kites?

The very next day the experiment was tried. A large vacant lot where there were no entangling wires or tall buildings was selected, and a large kite was let up with about a quarter of a mile of heavy cord. Near the middle of the kite string was attached a second string falling to the ground, by means of which the kite string might be lowered at pleasure. Near the boy who operated this second string the parachute boy was stationed. A piece of light cloth had been cut in the form and size of a lady's umbrella cover, having strings attached to the angles and meeting below at the center, where they were attached to a small weight, usually a washer or a nut weighing about half a pound. At the top of the parachute there was a bent pin which was hooked to the kite string when it was drawn down, and the parachute was then easily carried aloft upon the release of the string. As soon as the kite string attained its ordinary slant it was jerked sufficiently to release the pin. The falling parachute opened beautifully and sailed downward amid the cheering of an appreciative audience.

Parachutes have been dropped from kites before now, but the advantage of the Washington Heights invention is that any number of descents can be made in a single afternoon without withdrawing the kite.

A great number of exceedingly interesting and striking experiments may be tried with kite parachutes. A small dummy boy or a doll can be attached to the parachute, and the descent will so nearly resemble that of a real aeronaut that it will be most startling. In the evening a small lantern may be used, this furnishing a counterpart of a falling star. Even better than this is the use of a coal oil ball. For this purpose a small wad of cotton batting may be tightly bound about the weight at the bottom of the parachute and then soaked in kerosene. Just before the parachute is sent up the ball may be lighted. When the parachute drops, the display, especially at night, is really striking. The hot air rising from the burning oil and filling the cloth dome will also tend to prolong the descent. In case a coal oil ball is used the parachute will have to be held together with very fine wire ribs instead of strings, or else the burning ball will have to be hung well below the meeting place of the strings by means of a wire. If this is not done, the parachute is likely to furnish fuel for the flames below.—Chicago Record.

A Harnessed Whale.

One of the greatest features in the way of show business was managed by Professor Butler of Boston, 30 years ago. He captured a white whale 12 feet long, tamed him, made a harness for him and hitched him to a fairy boat, shaped like a clam shell, in which a little girl rode. Barnum saw the "whale act" and wanted to introduce it at his museum, at Broadway and Ann street. After everything was ready the museum burned, including the performing whale.—New York World.

Ingenious Tommy.

"When you stepped on that gentleman's foot, Tommie, I hope you apologized?"

"Oh, yes, indeed, I did," said Tommie, "and he gave me 10 cents for being such a good boy."

"Did he? And what did you do then?"

"Stepped on the other and apologized again, but it didn't work."—Harper's Round Table.

Entering one of the main streets and walking up the hill, we were soon in a labyrinth of tombs. Inside of one little house, which had a glass door, there was a shelf built of marble, upon which stood a framed photograph of a man. On each side were vases filled with white lilies, and underneath was stretched a white ribbon, and letters in gold upon it told that this was an offering from his sorrowful schoolmates. Three columns rising from one pedestal and resembling some fragment of a Roman ruin stood to commemorate three brothers who had wished to be laid together. Many monuments were like obelisks or in other Egyptian forms, showing the influence upon the fashion of the time of Napoleon's eastern campaign. One large column with a broken shaft stood alone in an open space upon a raised platform and attracted our attention because of the great number of wreaths and flowers piled high upon it. This was a monument to those whose burial places were unknown, whose deaths were shrouded in mystery, and whose mourners come here to pray and weep. As we looked a poor woman with a child by one hand added her little spray of chrysanthemums to the gay but pathetic heap. Soon familiar and world famous names began to claim our interest. Here lay Moliere and further on Alfred de Musset, the great poets, Chopin's last resting place marked by a beautiful figure. Lafontaine, with a little fox appropriately crowning his sepulcher—for who can mention him without thinking of the sly puss that got the crow's dinner?—Balzac, the novelist; Cherubini, the composer, and many other famous painters, authors and musicians. Then the brave men who fought for France—Marshal Ney, Napoleon's right hand man, who lies in a little inclosed lot filled with shrubs and flowers, but with no monument, for when he died his enemies were in power and would allow none to be erected, and now its absence and the simple grave speak more eloquently than could the finest tomb.

Then comes poor Villeneuve, who lost at Trafalgar and in consequence of Napoleon's displeasure received such a harsh repulse when he returned to Paris that he ran a needle through his broken heart. Just across the way from him is Parmentier, the agriculturist. He was the man who with the utmost difficulty convinced the dainty French that the potato was worth cultivating and eating. They say that Marie Antoinette helped him to attain this end by wearing potato blossoms with her beautiful ball gowns. However true this may be, certain it is that the vegetable is planted every year around the good man's tomb. There is one tomb which every one is sure to visit at Pere la Chaise, and this is the grave of Abelard and Heloise, the grave that has been the subject of so many songs and verses, and where lovers come to plight their vows and pledge their faithfulness. Very romantic it must be, too, on a moonlight evening, with the pale rays falling on the stone figures lying peacefully side by side, with folded hands, under the canopy of early Gothic style, with queer gargoyles at each corner. The story of the lovers is well known. They had many trials and tribulations, but at last they rest together, according to Heloise's last wish that she might be reunited to her idol. Through the tombs and trees we went higher and higher, until we came out upon a wide terrace and Paris burst upon our view. Paris, sparkling in the sunlight, spread before us in a glittering panorama, an immense expanse of white buildings with domes, towers, spires and bridges, and the Eiffel tower rising like a gaunt skeleton amid the feast of beautiful architecture. No wonder that the mutineers of the commune appreciated the fine advantages of position afforded by Pere la Chaise. Here they entrenched themselves and transformed the quiet cemetery into a noisy camp. Here they met the fire from the government positions, until finally they were overpowered by troops which scaled the heights, and the terrible slaughter took place when thousands of the communists fell among the sepulchers. Some poor wretches tried to hide in the tombs, and the merciless soldiers closed them up fast, so that to this day skeletons of their victims are found in their ghastly prisons.—Paris Cor. FULL RESULT OF THE VOTING

It Was a Very Quiet Election Day With No Stir Until the Bad News Began to Come—One Man Arrested For Striking Another—All the News.

Election day in Wellsville was quiet. The vote was light and no one seemed to manifest any particular interest in the result.

Republicans and Democrats were anxious last night when it became known that the result would not be as every one expected. The first indication of Democratic victory sent the friends of Aten into the air, and they continued their hilarity until they were sure he was defeated, and even then they were jubilant because of the prospects in the state. The count was over early, and resulted as follows:

Hit an Old Man.

A warrant was sworn out last night charging a young man named Phillips with assaulting and seriously injuring an old man who gave the name of Crawford.

The trouble occurred in a house on Ninth street, yesterday morning, and a woman was said to be at the bottom of it. The quarrel incensed the neighbors and the warrant was issued. Crawford had a cut on his forehead.

Will Have Another.

The members of the Foraker club are justly proud of their banquet, and propose to hold another in the near future. It has not yet been decided what form the evening's entertainment will take, but it will be such as to attract the leading Republicans of Columbiana county.

They Want More Cars.

The people who work in Liverpool and live in Wellsville continue to complain because the street railway management has not provided a sufficient number of cars to handle the crowd in the morning.

The number of Wellsville people who

find employment in East Liverpool is constantly increasing, and they crowd the available cars every morning.

Lost the Tube.

A little child, a member of the Kenyon family, who has been suffering from membranous croup, swallowed the silver tube the doctors put in its throat, and there was consternation until the doctors discovered what had become of the tube. The child is none the worse for its experience.

No Betting.

There was no betting on the election. A few attempts were made, but no one could be found who would put money against the Republican ticket and the result was not at all to the liking of the gamblers. Now they are wondering why they did not bet on plurality.

Work at the Mill.

Work on the improvements at the mill goes steadily forward, and they will be completed at the appointed time. Employment will be given to a large number of men.

The News of Wellsville.

Miss Dinely, of Pittsburg, arrived in the city yesterday evening.

Stewart Sharp, of Washington, D. C., returned here yesterday to vote.

E. S. Kelly went to Cleveland yesterday afternoon.

Father Halligan is a Cleveland visitor today.

Jesse Johnson has accepted a position in the Cleveland and Pittsburg yards.

David Mannist, the gentleman who was deprived of his vote in the late presidential election, voted in the Fourth ward yesterday without interference.

The Smart Boleros.

Every sort of basque apparently is worn just now. You may have your bodice to reach just to the waist or to come an inch or so below it or two inches above it, or with a back four or five inches above it. In addition to all this you can have a choice of basques, whether short and fully plaited at the back and plain at the sides, or some six inches long and with only sufficient fullness to make it free from wrinkles. Some of the basques are only at the back, while others go all the way round. A third variety is very full at the back and continues around the sides, but without fullness.

Of all these styles, perhaps the very smartest is the bolero which just reaches the waist at the back, and, sloping downward very slightly toward the front, overpasses the waist line by not more than an inch. The fronts do not meet, but allow a vest or waistcoat to be seen, and at a point some six inches above the waist turn back in revers, usually of satin, and often covered with lace.

White satin is again to be used by the mile for all such purposes this season. One bolero that I have seen had very deep revers cut in tabs that formed a collar. These tabs were not only faced with the richest ivory tinted satin, but were veiled with the very finest and costliest brussels lace. Think of the lovely effect of this on a bolero of finest venetian cloth in a soft, pale tone of sulphur color, the skirt being in the same color and material. The waist belt was white satin ribbon, a detail that is always open to criticism, for only the very slimmest figures can stand a white belt.—London Truth.

Shoes and Slippers.

Chiefly remarkable for their extraordinary high heels and the elaborate materials of which they are made are the new evening shoes which are to be worn during 1897. For shape and make up they far more strongly resemble the footgear worn by some fine French dame of two or three centuries ago than they do the slippers ordinarily worn today.

One of these dainty models is a carriage shoe, and it is far less clumsy than the article which usually goes by that name. It is of pale rose pink satin, plaided off with silver embroidery and lined with softest ermine. An enormous white bow or rosette ornaments each instep. Even this shoe is made with its high, slender heel and is so gracefully shaped that one would never suspect it to be worn as a covering for another shoe.

Probably the very newest slipper is one without any trace of a heel, which is worn at home, as it is obviously impossible to trust to so treacherous an affair as a heelless slipper when one is elsewhere than at home. It is a pretty pattern, though, and is planned to show off the good points of a pretty foot remarkably well. The little rosette on the toe gives a very chic touch.

Black satin slippers seem wholly out of date, but one of the most effective of the new slippers has a front of black satin, the back, however, being of pale yellow silk. The front of the shoe represents a rather unique strapped effect, there being six black satin straps, each fastened by an amber buckle.—New York Letter.

FOR LITTLE FOLKS.

A KITE PARACHUTE.

With a Bent Pin, an Extra String and Other Simple Things You Can Have Lots of Fun.

The boys of Washington Heights have invented a new and fascinating kite game. Not long ago they saw a balloon ascension which was followed by a daring drop with a parachute. This put an idea into their heads. Why not make a parachute and have it drop from one of their kites?

The very next day the experiment was tried. A large vacant lot where there were no entangling wires or tall buildings was selected, and a large kite was let up with about a quarter of a mile of heavy cord. Near the middle of the kite string was attached a second string falling to the ground, by means of which the kite string might be lowered at pleasure. Near the boy who operated this second string the parachute boy was stationed. A piece of light cloth had been cut in the form and size of a lady's umbrella cover, having strings attached to the angles and meeting below at the center, where they were attached to a small weight, usually a washer or a nut weighing about half a pound. At the top of the parachute there was a bent pin which was hooked to the kite string when it was drawn down, and the parachute was then easily carried aloft upon the release of the string. As soon as the kite string attained its ordinary slant it was jerked sufficiently to release the pin. The falling parachute opened beautifully and sailed downward amid the cheering of an appreciative audience.

Parachutes have been dropped from kites before now, but the advantage of the Washington Heights invention is that any number of descents can be made in a single afternoon without withdrawing the kite.

A great number of exceedingly interesting and striking experiments may be tried with kite parachutes. A small dummy boy or a doll can be attached to the parachute, and the descent will so nearly resemble that of a real aeronaut that it will be most startling. In the evening a small lantern may be used, this furnishing a counterpart of a falling star. Even better than this is the use of a coal oil ball. For this purpose a small wad of cotton batting may be tightly bound about the weight at the bottom of the parachute and then soaked in kerosene. Just before the parachute is sent up the ball may be lighted. When the parachute drops, the display, especially at night, is really striking. The hot air rising from the burning oil and filling the cloth dome will also tend to prolong the descent. In case a coal oil ball is used the parachute will have to be held together with very fine wire ribs instead of strings, or else the burning ball will have to be hung well below the meeting place of the strings by means of a wire. If this is not done, the parachute is likely to furnish fuel for the flames below.—Chicago Record.

A Harnessed Whale.

One of the greatest features in the way of show business was managed by Professor Butler of Boston, 30 years ago. He captured a white whale 12 feet long, tamed him, made a harness for him and hitched him to a fairy boat, shaped like a clam shell, in which a little girl rode. Barnum saw the "whale act" and wanted to introduce it at his museum, at Broadway and Ann street. After everything was ready the museum burned, including the performing whale.—New York World.

Ingenious Tommy.

"When you stepped on that gentleman's foot, Tommie, I hope you apologized?"

"Oh, yes, indeed, I did," said Tommie, "and he gave me 10 cents for being such a good boy."

"Did he? And what did you do then?"

"Stepped on the other and apologized again, but it didn't work."—Harper's Round Table.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., WEDNESDAY, NOV. 3.

WHEN the average Republican thinks how near he came to being represented by a Washington man in the senate he at once repents of his apathy and wishes he had another chance.

In spite of Bryan's croaking and the assistance he has been given by his silver friends in every state of the Union there is no reason to believe the country is going to the dogs. Billy can whimper and his friends can talk calamity from now until next election day, and they will see the same result. This country is beginning to understand that we are having the right kind of prosperity, and that prosperity is going to continue.

A CLOSE CALL.

The election should teach every Republican in Ohio that he cannot neglect his duty as a citizen and yet expect the party to sweep the state with a rousing majority. It was not any increase in the sentiment for Democracy which came near crushing Governor Bushnell under a weight of Chapman votes, and until a late hour this morning compelled Senator Hanna to think he did not occupy an exalted position in the hearts of his countrymen. It was the stay-at-home Republicans who did these things, the neglect on the part of men who should long ago have learned that there is no excellence without a certain amount of labor. It was a close call, much closer than we will want in the future, and much closer than we will ever have again if the Republicans only do their duty.

THE CUBAN ISSUE.

If the devotion of any great part of the people to a particular cause makes that cause an issue, then is the struggle of Cuba for liberty a matter which President McKinley and congress cannot well ignore. During the campaign just closed the political speaker had but to mention the insurgents to excite the wildest enthusiasm, and promises made for their future welfare were greeted everywhere with the loudest of cheers. There was everything to indicate sympathy and an earnest hope that our government would soon see the error of its course and demand from Spain that which Spain should give. Ohio is for Cuba, and no part of Ohio is more enthusiastic in the cause than are those Republicans who cheered McKinley and Cuba with the same breath. They have made their wishes known. They expect their representatives in congress to vote their sentiments should the opportunity be presented. The News Review believes they will not be disappointed.

SENT TO THE WORKS.

Mayor Gilbert Cleaned Up His Docket Today.

Mayor Gilbert this morning sentenced the prisoners who have been occupying cells in the city jail.

Price, of New Brighton, was fined $7.60, but had no money to pay, and the mayor has not decided what will be done with him.

Pat Mooney, who has been a frequent visitor at city hall in days gone by, received six months to the works and will not bother the mayor for some time. He will be accompanied by Pat Tolin, who got 90 days to the same institution. Thomas McKeever was fined $7.60, which he paid.

Sanitary Tonsorial Measures.

Paris barbers and hairdressers are now obliged by the police to take sanitary measures in carrying on their business. Elaborate regulations have been sent out requiring them to use only nickel plated combs, to substitute pulverizers for powder puffs, to cover the hair cut off with sawdust and have it removed at once, to wash their hands before working on a customer and to place all metallic instruments—razors, shears, combs, cutting machines, etc.—in a solution of soap and boiling water for ten minutes before they are used.—New York Tribune.

After Money.

LISBON, Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Edward A. Price and Peter Worrall, doing business in New York under the firm name of Fred Butterfield & Co., yesterday afternoon commenced action in common pleas court against Myers & Co., of Philadelphia for $5,771. Chattels in the hands of William Erlanger are garnished.

Concert, Friday Nov. 5, Grand Opera House, Manley's band assisted by Nowling's orchestra.

Indoor Baseball.

The opening game of indoor baseball will be played in the gymnasium of the Young Men's Christian association Thursday night at 8:30 o'clock. Director Morris has completed all arrangements and a good game is anticipated.

TONSILINE CURES SORE THROAT.

Read what a well-known Minister writes us about Tonsiline:

East Palestine, O., April 8, 1895.

The Tonsiline Co.:

I take pleasure in saying that we have used Tonsiline in the family for ulcerated sore throat, and it not only seemed to prevent the attack from being so severe as formerly, but cured the throat completely in a very few days. When any one of us has sore throat of any kind, the rush is for the Tonsiline bottle, and that is the last of it. It is certainly a most excellent remedy.

Yours very truly,

D. F. DICKSON.

TONSILINE SHOULD BE IN EVERY HOME. Sore Mouth, Croup and Quinsy are quickly cured by Tonsiline.

Croker's Eloquent Proxy.

There is one place in this country where they think Richard Croker is a great orator. It is in Utah.

"I never made a speech in my life," said Mr. Croker, "except by proxy. At the Democratic national convention of 1888, held in St. Louis, there were contesting delegations from Utah. One of these delegations was for Cleveland and the other against him. Naturally our sympathies were with the latter. When the Utah fellows asked some of our men to have Croker present at the meeting of the committee on credentials to make a speech in their favor, our fellows promised, thinking to play a joke on me. But I sent another man to speak for me. He was introduced as Croker, and as he was not known at all then every one was fooled. The speech he made then was a rattler, and it carried everything before it like a storm. To this day out in Utah they think I am a great orator."

"Who was the man that spoke for you?"

"Bourke Cockran."—Chicago Times-Herald.

Baboo English.

The strong headache which I felt that day made me somewhat epileptic in my bodily system and would not allow me to recover my senses, which were three sheets in the wind before closing the mail, which I did anyhow or other.

Office cat, by reason of death of rats, daily growing lean. Will superintendent please increase the contingent allowance for her restoration to stoutness?

I am willing to undergo any punishment you give me, for they will be useful to me in future. Patrons should not save their rods for spoiling their children.—St. Martin's-le-Grand.

The Serbian Army.

A curious thing connected with the Serbian army is the manner in which nearly all the regiments carry the big drum. Instead of being slung in front of the man who plays it this instrument is put upon a small two wheel cart drawn by a large dog, the latter being so trained that he keeps his place even through the longest marches. The drummer walks behind the cart and performs on the instrument as it goes along. Each regiment has two or three drums, but scarcely any of the regiments have a band.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., WEDNESDAY, NOV. 3.

WHEN the average Republican thinks how near he came to being represented by a Washington man in the senate he at once repents of his apathy and wishes he had another chance.

In spite of Bryan's croaking and the assistance he has been given by his silver friends in every state of the Union there is no reason to believe the country is going to the dogs. Billy can whimper and his friends can talk calamity from now until next election day, and they will see the same result. This country is beginning to understand that we are having the right kind of prosperity, and that prosperity is going to continue.

A CLOSE CALL.

The election should teach every Republican in Ohio that he cannot neglect his duty as a citizen and yet expect the party to sweep the state with a rousing majority. It was not any increase in the sentiment for Democracy which came near crushing Governor Bushnell under a weight of Chapman votes, and until a late hour this morning compelled Senator Hanna to think he did not occupy an exalted position in the hearts of his countrymen. It was the stay-at-home Republicans who did these things, the neglect on the part of men who should long ago have learned that there is no excellence without a certain amount of labor. It was a close call, much closer than we will want in the future, and much closer than we will ever have again if the Republicans only do their duty.

THE CUBAN ISSUE.

If the devotion of any great part of the people to a particular cause makes that cause an issue, then is the struggle of Cuba for liberty a matter which President McKinley and congress cannot well ignore. During the campaign just closed the political speaker had but to mention the insurgents to excite the wildest enthusiasm, and promises made for their future welfare were greeted everywhere with the loudest of cheers. There was everything to indicate sympathy and an earnest hope that our government would soon see the error of its course and demand from Spain that which Spain should give. Ohio is for Cuba, and no part of Ohio is more enthusiastic in the cause than are those Republicans who cheered McKinley and Cuba with the same breath. They have made their wishes known. They expect their representatives in congress to vote their sentiments should the opportunity be presented. The NEWS REVIEW believes they will not be disappointed.

SENT TO THE WORKS.

Mayor Gilbert Cleaned Up His Docket Today.

Mayor Gilbert this morning sentenced the prisoners who have been occupying cells in the city jail.

Price, of New Brighton, was fined $7.60, but had no money to pay, and the mayor has not decided what will be done with him.

Pat Mooney, who has been a frequent visitor at city hall in days gone by, received six months to the works and will not bother the mayor for some time. He will be accompanied by Pat Tolin, who got 90 days to the same institution. Thomas McKeever was fined $7.60, which he paid.

THE STATE IS ALL RIGHT

Bushnell Will Be the Next Governor.

LEGISLATURE IS REPUBLICAN

Democrats Are Claiming Everything In Sight but There Is No Real Reason For the Extravagant Figures Given—How Blake Stood In the County.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Election returns in the hands of the Republican and Democratic state committees are not yet complete, but enough information is here for the Republicans to claim the election of Bushnell and the remainder of the state ticket by 12,000, and a majority of from three to five on joint ballot in the legislature. It is not believed it will exceed five.

The Democratic committee until 10 o'clock claimed the election of Chapman by a small margin, but that has been abandoned, although they still say the legislature will be Democratic on joint ballot. No figures are given out. It will probably require the official count to settle the matter.

COLONEL DICK'S STATEMENT.

He Believes Bushnell and Hanna Are All Right.

LISBON, Nov. 3.—[Special.]—I. B. Cameron, chairman of the county Republican committee, received the following telegram from Cleveland at 9:30 this morning:

I. B. CAMERON, Lisbon, O.

Returns made to us indicate certain election of 75 Republican representatives and senators with eight still in doubt. Seventy-three is a majority. Republican state ticket is elected by 10,000 to 15,000.

CHAS. DICK.

BLAKE WAS BEHIND

The Remainder of the Republican Ticket.

LISBON, Nov. 3.—[Special.]—The result in the county cannot yet be told to a vote, but Chairman Cameron estimates Bushnell's plurality at 2,550, and Blake's at 1,800.

It is claimed that Blake has carried the district by about 5,000.

In Other Counties.

STUBENVILLE, Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Bushnell carried Jefferson county by about 1,900. Blake was cut in some sections.

BELLAIRE, Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Blake carried Belmont county by about 1,200.

CADIZ, Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Harrison county's Republican ticket was elected. Bushnell's plurality being 1,000.

IN THE COUNTY.

Blake Was a Winner but Ran Behind the Ticket.

LISBON, Oct. 30.—[Special.]—The election in Lisbon showed that the Republicans did not forget the day. The result was as follows:

Bushnell 791, Chapman 447, Blake 760, Aten 404, Smith 787, Koch 357.

Salineville.

SALINEVILLE, Nov. 3.—[Special.]—The result in Salineville was known soon after the polls closed. The figures are as follows: Bushnell 253, Chapman 216, Blake 299, Aten 240, Smith 303, Koch 236.

East Palestine.

EAST PALESTINE, Nov. 3.—[Special.]—The vote here was not as heavy as the leaders expected. The result:

Bushnell 543, Chapman 405, Blake 424, Aten 180, Smith 495, Koch 505.

Salem.

SALEM, Nov. 3.—[Special.]—The election in Salem and Perry township resulted as follows:

Bushnell, 1,010; Chapman, 757; Blake, 997; Aten, 779; Smith, 996; Koch, 776.

NEWS REVIEW BULLETINS

Told the Crowd All the News of the Election.

As usual the people learned the election news from the NEWS REVIEW last night, and many there were who went home at midnight satisfied with the service, but feeling that they had known times when it was more fun to be a Republican.

Long before the city vote was counted the bulletins at the NEWS REVIEW were telling to the biggest crowd of the evening all that was to be known about New York and Cincinnati. The first announcement that Van Wyck would be mayor of the big town was not denied throughout the evening. It was but a repetition by election districts of the first prophecy. The same was true of Massachusetts, and by the time the news started to come from Cincinnati and Cleveland the people seemed prepared for adversity. Not a cheer broke the silence. It was the most quiet election night audience that has ever faced the NEWS REVIEW bulletins. When the landslide came in 1892 there was confusion, and every election night since that time the cheering has been deafening. Last night there seemed to be a feeling that it had to come, and the sooner it was over the better it would be for all concerned.

Next to Governor Bushnell the candidacy of W. V. Blake excited interest, and when the township was reported Democratic and every ward in the city showed that he had fallen behind the head of the ticket there were murmurings which showed that still there was no cause for surprise. Wells' vote was received with a smile which broadened into a grin when St. Clair was reported. Other towns of the county were reported without a responsive cheer, the crowd simply asking a comparison of Blake's vote with the gubernatorial vote.

The NEWS REVIEW'S service was perfect. From the time the first news was reported at 7 o'clock until the rain came the crowd was more than double the size of any other similar assemblage in the city. The people knew where they would get all the news first, and they of course watched the NEWS REVIEW bulletins. While the announcements at the other places were being read by individuals the NEWS REVIEW was informing scores of people of the progress of the count.

The NEWS REVIEW not only gave the vote as it was polled yesterday, but compared it with the vote of last year. That allowed the crowd to learn just how the vote had been, and excited a great deal of interest. Scores of people left other bulletins in order that they might know what the NEWS REVIEW was announcing.

THE STATE IS ALL RIGHT

Bushnell Will Be the Next Governor.

LEGISLATURE IS REPUBLICAN

Democrats Are Claiming Everything In sight but There Is No Real Reason For the Extravagant Figures Given—How Blake Stood In the County.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Election returns in the hands of the Republican and Democratic state committees are not yet complete, but enough information is here for the Republicans to claim the election of Bushnell and the remainder of the state ticket by 12,000, and a majority of from three to five on joint ballot in the legislature. It is not believed it will exceed five.

The Democratic committee until 10 o'clock claimed the election of Chapman by a small margin, but that has been abandoned, although they still say the legislature will be Democratic on joint ballot. No figures are given out. It will probably require the official count to settle the matter.

COLONEL DICK'S STATEMENT.

He Believes Bushnell and Hanna Are All Right.

LISBON, Nov. 3.—[Special.]—I. B. Cameron, chairman of the county Republican committee, received the following telegram from Cleveland at 9:30 this morning:

I. B. CAMERON, Lisbon, O.

Returns made to us indicate certain election of 75 Republican representatives and senators with eight still in doubt. Seventy-three is a majority. Republican state ticket is elected by 10,000 to 15,000.

CHAS. DICK,

BLAKE WAS BEHIND

The Remainder of the Republican Ticket.

LISBON, Nov. 3.—[Special.]—The result in the county cannot yet be told to a vote, but Chairman Cameron estimates Bushnell's plurality at 2,550, and Blake's at 1,800.

It is claimed that Blake has carried the district by about 5,000.

In Other Counties.

STUEBENVILLE, Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Bushnell carried Jefferson county by about 1,900. Blake was cut in some sections.

BELLAIRE, Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Blake carried Belmont county by about 1,200.

CADIZ, Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Harrison county's Republican ticket was elected. Bushnell's plurality being 1,000.

IN THE COUNTY.

Blake Was a Winner but Ran Behind the Ticket.

LISBON, Oct. 30.—[Special.]—The election in Lisbon showed that the Republicans did not forget the day. The result was as follows:

Bushnell 791, Chapman 447, Blake 760, Aten 404, Smith 787, Koch 357.

Salineville.

SALINEVILLE, Nov. 3.—[Special.]—The result in Salineville was known soon after the polls closed. The figures are as follows: Bushnell 253, Chapman 216; Blake 299, Aten 240; Smith 303, Koch 236.

East Palestine.

EAST PALESTINE, Nov. 3.—[Special.]—The vote here was not as heavy as the leaders expected. The result:

Bushnell 543, Chapman 405; Blake 424, Aten 180; Smith 495, Koch 505.

Salem.

SALEM, Nov. 3.—[Special.]—The election in Salem and Perry township resulted as follows:

Bushnell, 1,010; Chapman, 757; Blake, 997; Aten, 779; Smith, 996; Koch, 776.

WON OUR FIRST GAME

Twin Cities Played Hard and Fast.

THE NASHAU TEAM DID NOT SCORE

The Fine Work of the New Team Was Entirely Too Much For the Strangers. The Second Half Was Furious From Start to Finish.

The Twin Cities yesterday afternoon defeated the Nashau football team of Pittsburg by a score of 8 to 0 in the best played game ever seen on the home grounds.

D. McCurran kicked off, and the punt was returned by Webb, and the ball was caught by Hester who advanced it a few yards. Liverpool lost on downs and Nashau did likewise a short time later. Herbert then carried the ball around the right and for a gain of 35 yards. D. McCurran went through center for three yards and Herbert did likewise for eight yards, carrying the ball to Nashau's goal line, and D. McCurran carried it over, but failed to kick goal. Hester was at this time put out of the game for slugging, and H. McCurran took his place.

Webb kicked off and the ball was downed on Liverpool's 35 yard line. Hall carried the ball around left end for a gain of 20 yards and a moment later Woods went around right end for 30 yards, but lost the ball when he was tackled. The Twin Cities recovered the ball and after two unsuccessful attempts were made to buck the center, D. McCurran went around right end for the second touchdown. He punted out to Hall who took a step backward, and thus the try for goal was lost. The remainder of the half was spent in mass plays and closed with the ball on Liverpool's 15 yard line.

In the second half D. McLane went to left end, Fisher to guard, Little to tackle and Burchard retired. The Nashuas also made some changes, Rothrum being moved to left half and Trudeau to left tackle.

The Nashuas got the ball on the kickoff, and it was by a series of end plays carried to the Liverpool's five-yard line when they lost it on downs. Here was the greatest struggle of the game, and the entire second half was fought out in Liverpool territory. The ball was never beyond Liverpool's 20 yard line and at times was carried to their five yard line, when they would take a stand and recover the ball. The contest was fierce, and try as they would the Nashau boys could not score, the game closing with the ball on Liverpool's eight yard line. During the contest Cupples broke a small bone in his nose, and Rothrum was injured and had to retire. A physician was called and attended to his injuries and he was taken to his home last evening. Several other players received slight injuries. The lineup:

Women Wage Earners in Hungary.

I cannot agree with my Hungarian friend that there are no thin and pale countenances to be seen among these women. I must in all sincerity draw another picture. I caught its outlines, not in one of the crowded cafes or along the boulevard or down by the side of the blue Danube, but up a back street in one of the new quarters of the rapidly growing city. I had seen the same sight in Bucharest the day before and knew what it meant. Brick and mortar and the many ways of lifting them up and down have always interested me. I know the slow, measured tread of big, red shirted Pat, as he clumsily climbs the vertical ladder, the hod on his back, and can still hear from the bricklayers above the cry of "Mort!" sitting down between the unfloored beams of the several stories. I know, too, the more modern hoist, where a turn of the lever sends both brick and mortar flying skyward to the scaffolding overhead. But a girl of 16 and a gray haired woman of 60 were new types of brick and mortar carriers to me, and not in one place alone, but wherever a building is in course of construction.

Narrow platforms instead of ladders are made for them, running zigzag up the outside scaffolding. The mortar (all mixed by women) is dumped into a tub, a pole is thrust through the handles, swung over the shoulders of two women, and the weary climbing to the top begins. I saw one dark eyed, bare footed girl—she was pale and thin enough—clothed only in a skirt and chemise, rest the tub for a moment at the first landing and press her hand to her side as if in great pain, the older one waiting for her patiently.

With all its beauty, dash and enthusiasm it must be a curious civilization which tolerates and makes possible a sight like this. It made my blood run cold and hot. It was as if one had plowed with a fawn.

But this custom, hideous as it is, cannot, I think, be counted for many more years against these people. Their progress in social order is too marked, let us hope, to permit of a long continuance of this degradation.—F. Hopkinson Smith in Harper's Magazine.

Lace Trimmings.

Just now it is the minor accessories of dress that render the simple lawn and muslin gowns so attractive. Lace trimmings, with all their dainty and fascinating subtleties, are again triumphant. There are wonderful possibilities in these soft, beautiful decorations. This year there have been brought out some new and beautiful designs in fancy laces, and these have found countless admirers and purchasers, but great favor has also been shown to the long popular valenciennes patterns in edgings, insertions, flounces and all over designs. It is one of the few laces that are worn as appropriately by the mother as her little child or that can be used to frill the cap of an infant or of its grandmother.

Very charming dresses have this season been made of white organdie or swiss muslin without lining, but worn over a silk slip, either high or low in the neck. Thus made they have a more airy and diaphanous effect than muslins seamed in with the linings. The transparent dresses are trimmed with frills of the dress goods, edged with valenciennes lace, with narrow insertions to match set in above the hem of the ruffle. The top part of the waist is trimmed with tucks and lace insertions, alternating with wide flounces forming bretellelike trimmings on each shoulder, and a number now worn at a noted summer resort are fastened at the back, the skirts decorated with lace ruffles from belt to skirt hem.—New York Post.

Passing of the Sailor.

What is to be the future of the feminine sailor hat? asks a writer in the New York Press. Fashion tolerates sameness in dress among women of all conditions only a brief time. I do not suppose that there is a woman under 100 years of age in the city of New York who is without a sailor hat. Some women have several. Mondaines pay $5 each for theirs, while less extravagant persons are content with a sailor bought with a quarter. Two dollars is an average price, but I saw this sign in a wholesale milliner's window last week, "These sailor hats 76 cents a dozen." They were common things, of course, and not accurate in shape, but they were sailors. And I predict that such a condition portends a great change in headgear. Not before next summer probably, but by that time. Dame Fashion has too much individuality to bear a blow like this, "Seventy-six cents a dozen." True, a $5 sailor is superior to one at 61-3 cents, but a mondaine must not dress so that her costume, even in name, can be imitated by the masses. What are the fashionables to wear in the summer of 1898?

MEMORIAL FOR FRANCE FROM AMERICAN WOMEN.

League of American Penwomen—Women Wage Earners in Hungary—Lace Trimmings—Thin Gowns—Women as Veterinarians—Passing of the Sailor.

An end of the century movement which is now centering the attention of the patriotic women of this country is that set on foot by the Daughters of the American Revolution, New York city chapter, to present a memorial to France at the exposition of 1900. This memorial is intended as an appreciative recognition of the help given by the soldiers of our sister republic during the Revolution.

As Washington is called the Father of His Country, so Lafayette is justly regarded as the godfather of the great American republic, and associated with him in his noble efforts were those other brave Frenchmen, D'Eustaing, Rochambeau and De Grasse. The work that they accomplished, displaying at all times the gallantry that marks their race and on one occasion virtually deciding the fate of the war, has as yet received no national recognition from this country, but that it has been through no lack of warm feeling on the part of our citizens is evidenced by the response that the plan of a memorial to France has met with.

The originator of the scheme was Mrs. Donald McLean, regent of the New York city chapter, D. A. R. Mrs. McLean proposed her plan at a dinner of the chapter, and it met with warm approval. Indeed, so great was the interest aroused that several members are devoting the summer to spreading the plan through the country among the various chapters in order that when the continental congress of the national society, of which Mrs. Adlai Stevenson, wife of the ex-vice president of the United States, is the head, meets in February at Washington, where Mrs. McLean will formally present her scheme, steps may at once be taken to put it in execution. Every week information is coming in to headquarters from western and southern state chapters, showing the deep interest taken by them.

Mrs. McLean, when questioned about the matter, gave the following information of her plans and methods:

"In the first place, it seemed eminently fitting that our society, formed as it is of the descendants of the men who so benefited by France's assistance, should offer at the end of the century in which we were organized a permanent memorial to France as an evidence of the feeling of gratitude we owe her. It also seems that the time of the Paris exposition will be particularly suitable for the presentation of this memorial to the president of the French republic, to be received by him as the representative of the state and preserved as the property of the nation.

"There is another movement now on foot which, I wish it distinctly understood, is quite separate from this. Its aim is to present a statue of Washington to France, as France gave the statue of Lafayette to us. This, however, is to be from the nation at large, any one contributing who wishes, while our memorial is to be from the Daughters of the American Revolution alone.

"For raising the necessary funds I have a very simple and, it seems to me, feasible plan, which I intend to lay before our continental congress in February, with my formal motion to present the memorial. The National society has a large yearly income, principally arising from the dues of the members. You know the society's roll now shows upward of 20,000 names, and the annual fees are sufficiently large. Of course part of this income is taken up by various expenses, and a certain amount is also devoted to the sum we are gradually amassing for the erection of a national Daughters of American Revolution building at Washington, but the remainder is quite sufficient to warrant our asking the society to appropriate a certain sum each year, from 1898 to 1900 inclusive, to procure a permanent and fitting memorial. I cannot help thinking that this method must appeal to the society, for in this way the money can be raised without a cent's extra taxation, and every member will be represented. If it is done in any other way, it seems unavoidable that some women—and it may be that among them will be many of those most deeply patriotic and desirous of helping—will be unable to give."—Baltimore Herald.

League of American Penwomen.

A new press club has been formed in Washington. It was the outgrowth of a coterie of journalists who met informally from time to time during the last season in the Wimodaughis parlors. Believing that mutual benefit might come from union, a body of active press women and authors became incorporated under the name of the League of American Penwomen. Seventeen charter members, two new members and eight honorary members make up the list. The last mentioned are Mrs. Jane Cunningham Croly, Mrs. Phoebe Hearst, Miss Ellen T. Longfellow, Mrs. May Dudley Vought, Mrs. Dora Harvey Munyon, Mrs. Emily Edson Briggs (Olivia), Mrs. Marion A. McBride and Mrs. Caroline F. Frye.

Only such persons as are actively engaged in journalism or press work or who are authors are eligible to membership in the league. Honorary members must have rendered aid or encouragement to the cause of penwomen. The league design is a tiny owl in gold in a triangle formed of pen, pencil and brush, with the initials "L. A. P. W." The colors are the loyal red, white and blue. The charter members of the League of American Penwomen are Margaret Sullivan Burke, Anna Sanborn Hamilton, Marion Longfellow O'Donoghue, Mary Temple Bayard, Mary A. Denison, Tillie Orr Hays, Ada Tower Cable, Bell Vane Sherwood, Margaret Wade, Abbie G. Baker, Nannie M. Lancaster, Alice R. Morgan, Mattie Hamilton Flick, Virginia King Frye, E. Emma V. Trippell, Jennie S. Campbell and Anna B. Patten. The officers are: President, Mrs. Burke; vice president, Mrs. O'Donoghue; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Denison; recording secretary, Miss Sherwood; treasurer, Mrs. Frye; auditor, Mrs. Hamilton; librarian, Mrs. Campbell. Mrs. Abbie Baker will act as delegate at large in the middle west, Miss Wade will represent the league on the Pacific coast and Mrs. Bayard will be the delegate for the east. The headquarters of the league, are at the Wimodaughis, where visiting members of the fraternity will find a welcome.—Washington Correspondence.

The candidate before the next general assembly of Kentucky for the place of state librarian will be Miss Nance Lee Neal of Lawrenceburg, Ky. Miss Neal is the 26-year-old daughter of the Hon. William Neal. She was educated at Hamilton college, Lexington, and at Belmont, Nashville.

Mrs. Oliphant was buried in Eton cemetery almost under the shadow of Windsor castle. Queen Victoria sent a wreath of flowers with the inscription, "A mark of admiration and respect from Victoria, R. I." The queen is a great admirer of Mrs. Oliphant's writings.

Here are some of the wealthiest women in the world: Senora Isidora Cousino, $200,000,000; Hetty Green, $50,000,000; Baroness Burdett-Coutts, $20,000,000; Mme. Barrios, $10,000,000; Miss Mary Garrett, $10,000,000; Mrs. Woleska, $10,000,000.

Instead of using the exhortation of the apostle, "Help those women," it should be, with their knock nowadays of making everything go, "Get those women to help you."—Boston Transcript.

WON OUR FIRST GAME

Twin Cities Played Hard and Fast.

THE NASHAU TEAM DID NOT SCORE

The Fine Work of the New Team Was Entirely Too Much For the Strangers. The Second Half Was Furious From Start to Finish.

The Twin Cities yesterday afternoon defeated the Nashau football team of Pittsburg by a score of 8 to 0 in the best played game ever seen on the home grounds.

D. McCurran kicked off, and the punt was returned by Webb, and the ball was caught by Hester who advanced it a few yards. Liverpool lost on downs and Nashau did likewise a short time later. Herbert then carried the ball around the right end for a gain of 35 yards. D. McCurran went through center for three yards and Herbert did likewise for eight yards, carrying the ball to Nashau's goal line, and D. McCurran carried it over, but failed to kick goal. Hester was at this time put out of the game for slugging, and H. McCurran took his place.

Webb kicked off and the ball was downed on Liverpool's 35 yard line. Hall carried the ball around left end for a gain of 20 yards and a moment later Woods went around right end for 30 yards, but lost the ball when he was tackled. The Twin Cities recovered the ball and after two unsuccessful attempts were made to buck the center, D. McCurran went around right end for the second touchdown. He punted out to Hall who took a step backward, and thus the try for goal was lost. The remainder of the half was spent in mass plays and closed with the ball on Liverpool's 15 yard line.

In the second half D. McLane went to left end, Fisher to guard, Little to tackle and Burchard retired. The Nashaus also made some changes, Rothrum being moved to left half and Trudeau to left tackle.

The Nashaus got the ball on the kickoff, and it was by a series of end plays carried to the Liverpool's five-yard line when they lost it on downs. Here was the greatest struggle of the game, and the entire second half was fought out in Liverpool territory. The ball was never beyond Liverpool's 20 yard line and at times was carried to their five yard line, when they would take a stand and recover the ball. The contest was fierce, and try as they would the Nashau boys could not score, the game closing with the ball on Liverpool's eight yard line. During the contest Cupples broke a small bone in his nose, and Rothrum was injured and had to retire. A physician was called and attended to his injuries and he was taken to his home last evening. Several other players received slight injuries. The lineup:

The game was fairly well patronized, and the rooting was very strong for the home team. Their next game is with Salem, and before the contest the boys will put in some hard practice. Had they been in good condition they would have scored in the second half but were entirely worn out.

Women Wage Earners in Hungary.

I cannot agree with my Hungarian friend that there are no thin and pale countenances to be seen among these women. I must in all sincerity draw another picture. I caught its outlines, not in one of the crowded cafes or along the boulevard or down by the side of the blue Danube, but up a back street in one of the new quarters of the rapidly growing city. I had seen the same sight in Bucharest the day before and knew what it meant. Brick and mortar and the many ways of lifting them up and down have always interested me. I know the slow, measured tread of big, red shirted Pat, as he clumsily climbs the vertical ladder, the hod on his back, and can still hear from the bricklayers above the cry of "Mort!" sitting down between the unfloored beams of the several stories. I know, too, the more modern hoist, where a turn of the lever sends both brick and mortar flying skyward to the scaffolding overhead. But a girl of 16 and a gray haired woman of 60 were new types of brick and mortar carriers to me, and not in one place alone, but wherever a building is in course of construction.

Narrow platforms instead of ladders are made for them, running zigzag up the outside scaffolding. The mortar (all mixed by women) is dumped into a tub, a pole is thrust through the handles, swung over the shoulders of two women, and the weary climbing to the top begins. I saw one dark eyed, bare footed girl—she was pale and thin enough—clothed only in a skirt and chemise, rest the tub for a moment at the first landing and press her hand to her side as if in great pain, the older one waiting for her patiently.

With all its beauty, dash and enthusiasm it must be a curious civilization which tolerates and makes possible a sight like this. It made my blood run cold and hot. It was as if one had plowed with a fawn.

But this custom, hideous as it is, cannot, I think, be counted for many more years against these people. Their progress in social order is too marked, let us hope, to permit of a long continuance of this degradation.—F. Hopkinson Smith in Harper's Magazine.

Lace Trimmings.

Just now it is the minor accessories of dress that render the simple lawn and muslin gowns so attractive. Lace trimmings, with all their dainty and fascinating subtleties, are again triumphant. There are wonderful possibilities in these soft, beautiful decorations. This year there have been brought out some new and beautiful designs in fancy laces, and these have found countless admirers and purchasers, but great favor has also been shown to the long popular valenciennes patterns in edgings, insertions, flounces and all over designs. It is one of the few laces that are worn as appropriately by the mother as her little child or that can be used to frill the cap of an infant or of its grandmother.

Very charming dresses have this season been made of white organdie or swiss muslin without lining, but worn over a silk slip, either high or low in the neck. Thus made they have a more airy and diaphanous effect than muslins seamed in with the linings. The transparent dresses are trimmed with frills of the dress goods, edged with valenciennes lace, with narrow insertions to match set in above the hem of the ruffle. The top part of the waist is trimmed with tucks and lace insertions, alternating with wide flounces forming bretellelike trimmings on each shoulder, and a number now worn at a noted summer resort are fastened at the back, the skirts decorated with lace ruffles from belt to skirt hem.—New York Post.

Passing of the Sailor.

What is to be the future of the feminine sailor hat? asks a writer in the New York Press. Fashion tolerates sameness in dress among women of all conditions only a brief time. I do not suppose that there is a woman under 100 years of age in the city of New York who is without a sailor hat. Some women have several. Mondaines pay $5 each for theirs, while less extravagant persons are content with a sailor bought with a quarter. Two dollars is an average price, but I saw this sign in a wholesale milliner's window last week, "These sailor hats 76 cents a dozen." They were common things, of course, and not accurate in shape, but they were sailors. And I predict that such a condition portends a great change in headgear. Not before next summer probably, but by that time. Dame Fashion has too much individuality to bear a blow like this, "Seventy-six cents a dozen." True, a $5 sailor is superior to one at 61-3 cents, but a mondaine must not dress so that her costume, even in name, can be imitated by the masses. What are the fashionables to wear in the summer of 1895?

LAND WILL BE SOLD

Because the Payments Have
Not Been Made.

GARDNERS WILL FORECLOSE

Mrs. M. M. Gardner and John Gardner
concluded to Take Their Property Again,
and It Will Be Advertised For Sale This Week—Some History.

When the NEWS REVIEW announced last week that J. E. McDonald had disposed of his interests in the bridge company, the East Liverpool and Rock Spring Street railway and in the Chester Land company, the opinion was expressed that there was trouble in the air. The first indication of that trouble appeared in Cumberland yesterday when Mrs. M. M. Gardner and John Gardner prepared to foreclose the deeds of trust they hold against two tracts of land, one of 104 acres, the other of 47 acres, on the other side of the river.

The story dates back to last year when the land, which is made up of the valuable tracts owned by the Gardners opposite this city, was purchased by J. E.
McDonald, and held in trust for the Chester Land company. When John Shrader took up the holdings of the other stockholders a few weeks ago, Mr.
McDonald turned over the property to him, he assuming all obligations against the land, the purchase price. Attorney E. D. Marshall acted in the capacity of trustee. The price was $50,000, to be paid in installments.

When the first installment of $10,000
became due it was not paid, and yesterday the first steps toward foreclosure were taken by Mrs. Gardner and John Gardner, at New Cumberland. The property will be advertised for sale in the Cumberland papers for four weeks, and if the payment is not made before the termination of that time, the property will be sold.

None of the interested parties will discuss the matter for publication, nor will they venture a prophecy as to the probable outcome of the matter.

MOONEY AND M'KEEVER

Were Sleeping Peacefully When the Patrol Arrived.

Although a number of drunks were seen on the streets yesterday afternoon and evening, only two arrests were made.

Officer Jennings last evening, about 9 o'clock, captured Pat Mooney and Tom McKeever, sleeping in Summit Lane.
The men did not awaken until the wagon was turning the corner of Market and Third street.

At the hearing this morning McKeever was fined $7.00, which he paid.

A Mean Thief.

Some few days since a fine rope, 160 feet in length, was stolen from Robert Moore, foot of Broadway. The thief is known, and unless he brings the property back at once, he will certainly be indicted and punished to the limit. A witness testifies that he saw the individual in question carrying the property away.

first week of November. Low rate excursion tickets will be sold Nov. 1 to 6, both dates inclusive, to Chicago from ticket stations on the Pennsylvania lines; return coupons valid Sunday,
Nov. 7.

Shipments Are Light.

Shipments of ware to Allegheny on the early trains have been very light this week.

This morning only one basket was sent, and the record for the week will be lower than it has been for some time.

Buying For Big Stores.

amount of business was placed.

This morning the local from Pitts-to have received over half of the shipment.

Thin Gowns.

In pale yellow dotted muslin a charming gown was made with ruffles, each edged with narrow valenciennes lace and put on to overlap one another from the waist to the hem. The waist was made tight fitting in the back, but in the front was loose and like a blouse and trimmed with narrow ruffles edged with lace. At the top of the sleeve was a puff, but the lower part was shirred in clusters of infinitesimal tucks and bands of valenciennes insertion. A broad pink moire sash and a collar of pink moire covered with yellow lace gave a note of color that was exceedingly good against the yellow. The linings were of pink silk.

It is a well recognized fact that all the wash materials now, as well as the heavier fabrics, look best when the skirt is separate from the lining and just a little wider. Muslins and gauzes so soon lose their stiffness and freshness that it is best to slip a piece of feather bone through the hem or binding, as the skirt will then have all the flare that can be desired, and yet will not be disfigured by being too stiff and cumbersome.

A pale pink silk mull with an embroided dot has been made over silk.
The skirt has five flounces edged with narrow valenciennes lace. The waist has strips of the lace sewed horizontally, and over the top of the sleeves are four or five ruffles edged with narrow lace. A black moire collar and sash with a big full ruche of pink at the back of the neck relieve the plain color.

Black lace on light muslin gowns is a particularly effective trimming. A mauve muslin made up over yellow has ruffles on the skirt, each edged with black lace. The waist is almost covered with bands of black lace, while belt and collar are of yellow mirror velvet.
Mauve and yellow are always a good combination, and the black lace seems to heighten the effect most artistically.

Women as Veterinarians.

This year a young woman will be graduated from the Veterinary school in Alfort, France. Germany and Russia boast of women veterinarians, but in the United States there is not one who is entitled to write herself D. V. S.
Women have applied to the various veterinary schools in the United States, most of them saying that they wished to make a special study of the diseases of cats and dogs. Some have taken preparatory courses at the school connected with Cornell university, but none has matriculated anywhere with the intention of entering the profession except Miss Jenne Revert, who attended the New York Veterinary college during two sessions.

Miss Revert is the owner of Robin-dale farm, Glen Head, N. Y., where she raises blooded horses and fine bulldogs. She hopes to finish her course and take her degree. She speaks appreciatively of the kindness, consideration and good fellowship which she has met with from professors and students. Miss Revert treats the horses and dogs on her own farm, and the horses are always shod under her own personal supervision.

Some of the wives of prominent veterinarians, who are not college graduates, have a wide practical experience and are well read on the subject of veterinary medicine, among them Mrs.
Gill, the wife of the dean of the New York Veterinary college.

There are even now any number of women who can pick up a pony's foot and take a stone out of it—Miss Kitty Wilkins of Bruneau Valley, Ida., who raises horses; Mrs. Samuel Caton, who managed her husband's stock farm while he was in Europe, and Mrs. Power O'Donoghue, the famous Irish horsewoman, who broke her own colts and trained them and managed her own stud. There must be others who are able to enter the veterinary profession, a field of work for women as yet unexplored.—Woman's Journal.

A Plucky Struggle.

Miss Clara B. Martin, the first lady admitted to the bar in Canada, has decided upon making a specialty of the law as relates to women. It is now six years since Miss Martin undertook her difficult struggle to obtain a B. A. degree. The regulation did not admit of the enrollment of women. By appealing to the Ontario parliament a bill was presented in 1892 to authorize the admission of women. The bill passed by one vote. Another year passed before she was able to induce a law firm to permit her to study in their office. After a time Miss Martin found that the bill passed by the legislature only allowed women to become solicitors, and she wished to become a barrister. After she had again petitioned parliament a bill was passed by 37 votes, authorizing women to practice as barristers—the result of the bill having been presented seven times during the last six months of 1896. She attributes her final success to having interested Sir Oliver Mowat and several other influential gentlemen.

The Women's Rest Tour association, with headquarters in Boston and a membership of 600, has established a traveling fund, lending money to women needing holiday trips.

The best way of preserving the freshness of a delicate blouse of chiffon or other dainty fabric is to put it away in blue tissue paper, such as milliners use for handboxes.

NEWS REVIEW.

LAND WILL BE SOLD

Because the Payments Have
Not Been Made.

GARDNERS WILL FORECLOSE

Mrs. M. M. Gardner and John Gardner
concluded to Take Their Property Again,
and It Will Be Advertised For Sale This Week—Some History.

When the NEWS REVIEW announced last week that J. E. McDonald had disposed of his interests in the bridge company, the East Liverpool and Rock Spring Street railway and in the Chester Land company, the opinion was expressed that there was trouble in the air. The first indication of that trouble appeared in Cumberland yesterday when Mrs. M. M. Gardner and John Gardner prepared to foreclose the deeds of trust they hold against two tracts of land, one of 104 acres, the other of 47 acres, on the other side of the river.

The story dates back to last year when the land, which is made up of the valuable tracts owned by the Gardners opposite this city, was purchased by J. E. McDonald, and held in trust for the Chester Land company. When John Shrader took up the holdings of the other stockholders a few weeks ago, Mr. McDonald turned over the property to him, he assuming all obligations against the land, the purchase price. Attorney E. D. Marshall acted in the capacity of trustee. The price was $50,000, to be paid in installments.

When the first installment of $10,000 became due it was not paid, and yesterday the first steps toward foreclosure were taken by Mrs. Gardner and John Gardner, at New Cumberland. The property will be advertised for sale in the Cumberland papers for four weeks, and if the payment is not made before the termination of that time, the property will be sold.

None of the interested parties will discuss the matter for publication, nor will they venture a prophecy as to the probable outcome of the matter.

MOONEY AND McKEEVER

Were Sleeping Peacefully When the Patrol Arrived.

Although a number of drunks were seen on the streets yesterday afternoon and evening, only two arrests were made.

Officer Jennings last evening, about 9 o'clock, captured Pat Mooney and Tom McKeever, sleeping in Summit Lane. The men did not awaken until the wagon was turning the corner of Market and Third street.

At the hearing this morning McKeever was fined $7.00, which he paid.

A Mean Thief.

Some few days since a fine rope, 160 feet in length, was stolen from Robert Moore, foot of Broadway. The thief is known, and unless he brings the property back at once, he will certainly be indicted and punished to the limit. A witness testifies that he saw the individual in question carrying the property away.

Excursions to Chicago.

The horse show and fat stock exhibition will be open at Chicago during the first week of November. Low rate excursion tickets will be sold Nov. 1 to 6, both dates inclusive, to Chicago from ticket stations on the Pennsylvania lines; return coupons valid Sunday, Nov. 7.

Shipments Are Light.

Shipments of ware to Allegheny on the early trains have been very light this week.

This morning only one basket was sent, and the record for the week will be lower than it has been for some time.

Buying For Big Stores.

D. J. Stark and Miss G. Harper, of Rochester, N. Y., were in the city yesterday and today. They were buying ware for several department stores of that city, and before they left a goodly amount of business was placed.

An Improvement.

A new screen has been completed at the Patterson machine shop for use at the reservoir. It is eight feet in length and three feet in diameter, and will be placed in position tomorrow.

We Eat Grapes.

This morning the local from Pittsburgh brought over 1,000 baskets of grapes to this place. One dealer is said to have received over half of the shipment.

Only 30 Days Longer.

November 30 will be your last day to get large $1 bottle of U-No tonic for 25 cents.

Thin Gowns.

In pale yellow dotted muslin a charming gown was made with ruffles, each edged with narrow valenciennes lace and put on to overlap one another from the waist to the hem. The waist was made tight fitting in the back, but in the front was loose and like a blouse and trimmed with narrow ruffles edged with lace. At the top of the sleeve was a puff, but the lower part was shirred in clusters of infinitesimal tucks and bands of valenciennes insertion. A broad pink moire sash and a collar of pink moire covered with yellow lace gave a note of color that was exceedingly good against the yellow. The linings were of pink silk.

It is a well recognized fact that all the wash materials now, as well as the heavier fabrics, look best when the skirt is separate from the lining and just a little wider. Muslins and gauzes so soon lose their stiffness and freshness that it is best to slip a piece of feather bone through the hem or binding, as the skirt will then have all the flare that can be desired, and yet will not be disfigured by being too stiff and cumbersome.

A pale pink silk mull with an embroidered dot has been made over silk. The skirt has five flounces edged with narrow valenciennes lace. The waist has strips of the lace sewed horizontally, and over the top of the sleeves are four or five ruffles edged with narrow lace. A black moire collar and sash with a big full ruche of pink at the back of the neck relieve the plain color.

Passenger traffic on the early eastern and western trains was very light this morning.

The extra pony worked very late in the lower yards last night. Heavy freight traffic was the cause.

Some parts of the platform at the station are in a bad condition, and unless changes are made, soon some one may be hurt.

The laying of the sidewalks on Eighth and Jethro streets was commenced yesterday, and will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

George Eardley and Joseph Stanway were in Pittsburg, last evening, attending a meeting of the Western Pennsylvania Football league.

Work on the new East End pottery is progressing, and the fifth kiln will be finished today. It is expected to have the plant under roof within a week.

W. L. Martin, who was confined to his room several days threatened with typhoid fever, was able to return to his work at the china works this morning.

All the booths used in the election yesterday were stored away in the small building in the rear of city hall this morning. Fred Johnson had charge of the work.

The coon hunters last evening took their annual hunt, and succeeded in capturing two coons. It was raining when they left the city and they spent a very disagreeable night. When the top of the Sprucevale hill was reached it was blowing a regular hurricane and the prospects were not very flattering, but the hunters kept on and bagged two coons.

George Baker, colored, who the Steubenville authorities were looking for in this place some time ago, was captured at Yorkville on the Ohio river road by Special Officer Moore, of the Cleveland and Pittsburg road, yesterday. WOULD you call us strangers? Our jealous-hearted competitors who are trying to impress upon your minds that we are strangers, they are sore because we are gaining a world wide reputation every day, by convincing the people of East Liverpool and vicinity that we are here and to increase the purchasing power of your hard earned $ dollars $, by giving you merchandise that is

TO DO YOU GOOD,

and at prices that make our "would be competitors" squeal so loud that we hear the echo at our Big Store at Salem, O.

We have received more new fall goods from the eastern markets than any other clothing house in town. And that's no fable. (Ask your freight agt.)

What We Write Stands Forever.
What We Say Is as Good as in Writing.

WE ARE NOT LIKE OTHERS, Buy up a lot of stuff, hire large spaces in the newspapers, beat drums, put up signs, and make a big bluff on the people, advertising bargain sales, and try and shove off a lot of "old shelf worn out goods" at immense big prices.

But Alas! It DIDN'T WORK!

No more signs, no more sale. It has SAILED away like all other manufactured bluff sales, into oblivion.

When we purchased the Geo. C. Murphy stock, which is well known to you as reliable, well made, and stylish goods, we did not change their prices, or put on new tickets, but sold the goods at just ONE-HALF from original marked price; and we are willing to do so on any garment that is left with the Geo. C. Murphy label.

Bear in mind, our New Fall Goods are the talk of the town. Prices guaranteed the lowest (or your money back.)
